Anthony Hernandez was born in Havana Cuba; raised in Chicago and currently resides in Palm Beach. His work is predominantly in the medium of oil and acrylic paintings on canvas, and has recently incorporated murals. As a firm believer that everything is somehow connected, our actions and our intentions, whether good or bad, create a chain reaction. Each work or piece in any medium I use will carry that message of connection. I always emphasize that "art and life go hand in hand; it is about decisions not conditions." Anthony has an evident passion and love for art. He studied under Martha Miranda in Chicago, IL. He has recently completed Murals at Basel's Biergarten in Wynwood during Art Basel, at Yamil's Customs in Miami; at The Garage in Northwood; the Eat Scene at City Place, and most recent at Respectables in Downtown West Palm Beach. His work was on display at Continuum in Downtown WPB. Recent solo shows have taken place at Wynwood's, SuViche Restaurant during Art Basel 2013, at West Palm Beach's The Wine Dive and Roxy's. His work is represented in private collections throughout South Florida. Anthony currently lives and works in West Palm Beach.
